Subject: Message from the Chief of Staff

Dear Colleagues,

First, allow me to introduce myself. I'm Dan Utech, and it is my privilege to join the EPA team as the incoming Chief of Staff.

As you know, President Biden has nominated Michael Regan, Secretary of the North Carolina Department of Environment and Natural Resources, as the next Administrator. While we await Secretary Regan's confirmation, I am grateful that Jane Nishida will be serving as Acting Administrator, providing us with steady leadership.

Yesterday, President Biden signed an Executive Order on Protecting Public Health and the Environment and Restoring Climate Crisis, which states that: “it is the policy of my Administration to listen to the science; to improve public health; to protect the environment; to ensure access to clean air and water; to limit exposure to dangerous chemicals and pesticides; to hold polluters accountable, including those who disproportionately harm communities of color and low-income communities; to reduce greenhouse gas emissions; to build resilience to the impacts of climate change; to restore and expand our national treasures and monuments; and to promote economic justice and the creation of the well-paying union jobs necessary to deliver on these goals.” EPA will be at the heart of this effort, guided by science as we move to achieve these goals and address other threats to public health and the environment.

President Biden also signed an Executive Order On Advancing Racial Equity and Support for Underserved Communities Within the Federal Government. In addition to providing a framework for advancing equity, it revokes the EO 13950-Combating Race and

In the coming days and weeks, we will be building out our leadership team. At the end of this email, please find an up-to-date list of acting leaders as well as a list of the incoming appointees who onboarded this week. As we and other members of the team get up and running, we look forward to learning from you and beginning to work together.

I know that the work of EPA relies on the dedicated professionals who carry the agency’s mission forward from one Administration to the next. Thank you for your ongoing service to EPA and our country, and for your efforts to protect Americans’ health and our environment.

Finally, I want to acknowledge that we begin this transition during the COVID-19 pandemic. I want to assure you that protecting public health is a top priority. As a first step in that regard, yesterday President Biden signed an Executive Order requiring masks and social distancing in federal buildings. This is not a change in telework status but rather a measure to further protect those whose work requires them to be in

Thank you in advance for bearing with us as we onboard amidst these unprecedented circumstances. I am honored to be part of this team.

As we look to our shared work ahead, please take a few minutes to view this brief video message from President Biden about his commitment in his own words.

Sincerely,

Dan Utech
Chief of Staff
